A large part of the men are living in tents at considerable distances from villages, and much suffering is reported."

Couple of Hours With Shakespeare

Hannibal A. Williams gave a Shakesperean recital last evening at the Universalist church to an audience which in matter of culture and ability to appreciate such an intellectual treat rarely appears in Dixon, or for that matter, any city of no greater magnitude in population. It requires rare talent in the line of impersonation to bring out in clear lines to one's auditors, without costumes and elaborate stage accessories, such characters as the Shakespearean dramatization of the great men of Rome in its palmy days of greatness; but Mr. Williams overcomes the difficulties admirably. His appreciation of the great dramatist's genius doubtless is the secret of such excellent interpretation of Shakespeare as we witnessed last evening. The secret, however, of Mr. Williams' success is the simplicity of his interpretation, together with the explanations of the plot of the play as he proceeds with his recitals.

He gave the entertainment a popular opening by calling the attention of his listeners to the fact that Shakespeare's Julius Cæsar is based almost entirely upon historical facts as taken from Plutarch; the play opening at the time that the feast Lupercalia was being celebrated, (feast of shepherds or herdsmen) and less than half a century before Christ. The speaker might have added that even the superstitious minutia of the play, the prognostication and warning of the Soothsayer, "Beware the ides of March," finds in history a sanction.

Mr. Williams is a gentlemen of fine presence for a speaker, except, perhaps, being a little too portly, for the general idea of an actor, if he may be so designated; but still his two hundred pounds or more of fine form being the reverse of a "dangerous," "lean" person, he could with much gusto interpret Shakespeare's (if we were not influenced by our tricky imagination) full meaning when he says:

"Let me have men about me that are fat;
Sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o'nights."

—Sterling is already having trouble with its Sunday closing ordinance. The Gazette says, it is true that with but one exception all prohibited places of business were closed last Sunday, the first day on which the ordinance went into effect; but just outside the city limits a race course had been opened and there not only was the rabble congregated, but for hours on one of the principal streets was more commotion than ever known before on a Sunday afternoon. Then, it is claimed that there is a tendency on the part of the mayor and some aldermen to treat the penalty lightly. One merchant stated that he had been told by members of the council to continue as he had been doing, and if he was fined the sum would be remitted to him. Such a course as this would be not only to nullify the effect of the law, but to engender disregard and disrespect for all law. If the law is right, enforce it; if wrong, amend or repeal it. There is too great a tendency everywhere to disregard all law, to confuse license with liberty. Perhaps this is somewhat due to profuse and thoughtless legislation. The remedy is fewer laws, more carefully formulated and more rigidly enforced. Every time an executive wrinks at a violation of law he commits a positive crime against society.

—As will be seen elsewhere, the old established drug firm of Tillson & Hayden is dissolved by mutual consent; the business continuing under the supervision of the head of the firm. In 1869 Mr. Tillson went into the business, which has gradually grown to an immense trade. Twenty-two years ago Donald Hayden went to work in the store as a clerk and for eleven years served most faithfully in that capacity. Eleven years ago he entered the firm as a partner, and we are assured that in all these years the most amicable relations have existed, undimmed by a single unpleasant word. Considerations of health alone influence Donald's withdrawal from the firm.

—Tomorrow evening at 7:30 in place of the regular weekly prayer meeting at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Kerr, of Rock Island, will deliver his interesting lecture on "The Formation of the New Testament." Mr. Kerr is a good talker, and thoroughly qualified to handle this subject. An invitation to be present is extended to all not expecting to attend the other church meetings. The lecture will be free, but an offering will be taken, to raise a small amount for traveling expenses of the speaker.

—In the circuit court at Peoria a few days ago an interesting insurance case was decided. It was a suit brought by Nancy J. Noel, of Chicago, to recover $5,000 insurance money from the Modern Woodmen of America, for the death of her husband. Noel was at one time sheriff of Peoria county and a prominent politician. He joined the Woodmen, but afterward went into the saloon business. The laws of the order forbid any saloon keeper being a member, so he was expelled. Soon afterward he died, and his widow sued the order for the insurance money. The judge found for the order.

—Patrick Meeks, of South Dixon, died at his home about one and a half miles west of Eldena, about eight o'clock yesterday morning of pneumonia. He had been ill but a few days. Mr. Meeks was about 67 years of age and an old resident of this county, having lived in South Dixon about forty years. He leaves a wife and nine children. The funeral will be at St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning, Feb. 6, at 10:30 o'clock.

KENILWORTH IVY

If You Want the Real Thing, Never Go to Kenilworth Castle For It.

"'Could I get some slips of Kenilworth ivy anywhere about the ruins?' I heard a woman ask of the lodgekeeper at Kenilworth castle one day," said a traveler.

"'You are an American, aren't you, madam?' asked the keeper, with a smile.

"'Why, yes, but what of that?' responded the lady, with some slight embarrassment.

"'All American ladies come and ask me for Kenilworth ivy after they have searched in every nook and corner of the ruins for it,' explained the keeper. 'They have told me how common it is in America and how much it is prized, and generally explained that they have promised to take some of the real thing back from Kenilworth ruins for friends at home. They tell me they expected to find the ruins of Kenilworth castle overgrown with the beautiful "Kenilworth ivy," and that it is generally supposed in America that such is the case, and that the ivy first came from here or is named after these ruins because of its abundance here.'

"The woman nodded assent to all this, and the keeper continued:

"'But what you know as "Kenilworth ivy" doesn't grow in or about Kenilworth ruins, as you've no doubt discovered.' And he smiled again, and the woman also smiled in an embarrassed way, for she had been hunting every inch of the ruins over, looking for the plant. 'From the description of the plant which Americans give me I think it is what we call ground or wood ivy that you treasure so much. It has a small, bright green leaf and bears a tiny white flower. It grows on the ground in the thickets and under the hedges in cool places, but I never saw it growing on a wall as the common ivy does. I don't think there is much of it anywhere hereabouts, but it grows in abundance in some places farther south. The American ladies always seem very much disappointed when I tell them "Kenilworth ivy" doesn't grow here in Kenilworth, and I'm very sorry I can't give you some, ma'am.'

"And the woman turned away, with a little sigh, as she thought of the hanging basket at home which was to have been filled with 'real Kenilworth ivy' and of the many friends to whom she had promised slips of the 'real thing' when it had grown. The ruins of Kenilworth castle are covered with thick masses of ivy, but it isn't 'Kenilworth ivy,' but just the common kind."—New York Sun

MARDI GRAS EXCURSION

To Vicksburg and New Orleans via the Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroads.

The most complete southern trip ever offered the people of the Northwest is the proposed Mardi Gras excursion to New Orleans, going one route, returning via another as follows: Leave Dixon at 11:01 a. m., February 19, 1895, round trip rate $24.65. Tickets limited to March 20. At Dubuque special train will be made up consisting of Pullman Sleepers, Chair Cars and Coaches to run through to Vicksburg via Mendota and Bloomington. Extra Sleepers will be attached to train leaving Chicago at 1:25 p. m., February 19, to accommodate business from Rockford, Chicago, Champaign and other points south of Chicago. At Centralia these cars will be placed in the special train which will arrive at Memphis for breakfast. Here a short stop will be made, leaving Memphis 10:30 a. m., running through the great cotton fields and magnificent forests of the Mississippi Delta, reaching Vicksburg about 5 p. m. of the 20th, where the party will be met by the mayor and committee, and with bands of music and military companies, escorted to the hotels. At 8 p. m. the Inter State Farmers' Institute will open in the opera house by addresses of welcome by Governor Stone, Mayor Trowbridge and others, with response by Governor Jackson, of Iowa, Ex-Governor Hoard, of Wisconsin, Mrs. Meredith, of Indiana, Prof. Smith, of Wisconsin, and others. The afternoon of the 21st will be a complimentary excursion to the National Cemetery. The 22d will be devoted to the discussion of agricultural questions by the best men of the nation, closing with an address by President Beardshear, of Iowa Agricultural College. Saturday morning at 8 a. m. a special train will run to New Orleans via Port Gibson and Baton Rough, through the great cane fields of Louisiana, reaching New Orleans at 4 p. m. of the 23d. The Mardi Gras Carnival will take place the 26th, after which the party will return at will, within the limit of their ticket, via Hammond, and Jackson. The Vicksburg excursion will give northern people an opportunity to see and learn much concerning the products and people of the south. Governor Jackson, Hon. Jas. Wilson, President Beardshear, Dr. Hill, Ex-Governor Hoard, and many other distinguished gentlemen with their ladies will accompany this excursion. The celebrated Ottumwa male quartet will furnish music enroute and at the Vicksburg institute. Nothing has been omitted that will add to the interest and pleasure of the trip. Write the undersigned at once for a program of the Vicksburg institute, rates, etc., and be sure and apply to me direct, not later than February 15, for sleeping car accommodations to Vicksburg. "First come first served," is the rule.

NOW COMES REED.

Maine Statesman and Financier Has a Scheme.

A BILL WITH ONLY TWO SECTIONS.

Provides for the Issuance of Government 3 Per Cent. "Coin" Scrip to Tide Over the Difficulty—And Here Comes Carlisle and Says the Difficulty Doesn't Exist, for There Will Be $22,000,000 Surplus on Dec. 31,1895—National Notes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Calculations of the supporters and opponents of the new administration financial bill have been upset by the interjection of a new factor into the campaign. Reed of Maine, the Republican leader, has brought forward a new plan for which he is endeavoring to enlist the entire strength of his party, and which he will offer as a substitute for the administration scheme if he thinks his plan can command sufficient support to make it a factor in the fight. There are but two sections to the Reed plan in the form in which he has submitted it to his colleagues. The first proposes to restrict the law of 1875, which authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds to redeem the greenbacks, to 3 per cent. bonds.

Government 3 Per Cent. Scrip.

The second section authorizes the secretary of the treasury, when there is a deficit, to issue certificates of indebtedness to pay current expenses the certificates to be in sums of $25, $50 and $100, and any multiples thereof, bearing interest at 3 per cent. and payable in "coin." The bill, as Reed explained to the Republicans whose support he sought, is but a temporary expedient to tide over the present distress. The substitution of "coin" for the gold provisions of the administration plan is expected to win for it the toleration—if not the support—of the free silver men, who bitterly oppose all propositions to discriminate by stipulation in any bill in favor of gold. Its comparative simplicity, it is expected, will commend the bill to the house in preference to more complex plans.

Reed at Work for His Idea.

Reed devoted himself assiduously throughout the day to cloak-room consultations with the Republicans. He first endeavored to elicit the opinions of the gold men and then talked to the silver men. The measure of his success is difficult to estimate. The plan is to offer the bill as a substitute for the administration bill, and by polling the solid Republican vote while the Democrats are divided on the administration bill make it the most formidable proposition in the field, and perhaps induce the Democratic opponents of the administration bill to rally to its support. Chairman Springer and his colleagues have counted on most of the Republican votes for the administration bill and have prophesied that it would poll about the same support that was given to the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

Silver Senators Noticeably Active.

Interest in the financial question about the senate centered in the activity of the silver senators, and the frequent consultations held by them. This, taken in connection with the call issued by Voorhees, for a meeting of the finance committee today, led to the general supposition that an attempt would be made by the silver advocates on the committee to secure the reporting of a free silver bill. Inquiry among the members of the committee failed to develop absolute assurance that the effort would be made, but enough was said in many quarters to indicate that the general supposition was not without good foundation and to justify the statement that the silver men are very hopeful of bringing a free coinage bill out of the committee, if not at day's meeting at the next one to be held.

TREASURY OFFICIALS SERENE.

They Have Figured Out a Surplus of $22,500,000—No Bond Issue Yet.

A spirit of serenity pervaded the treasury department that was quite in contrast with the anxious looks and hurried movements of the officials last week. Secretary Carlisle was in his office and saw all comers, which he has been unable to do for some time past. In answer to all inquiries Carlisle stated that he had nothing to say on the financial situation. Assistant Secretary Curtis, who has returned from New York, was also in his office and accessible to all callers. He, however, would not say whether his mission in New York had been successful. So far as can be learned no steps have been taken to prepare plates for another issue.

But the thing that gave the officials most satisfaction was Secretary Carlisle's report to the senate that there would be a surplus of $22,500,000 on Dec. 31, 1895. Treasury officials generally express the opinion that Secretary Carlisle's estimate is conservative. It is urged that the customs duty on sugar alone should bring in at least $35,000,000 during the next eleven months and that the revenue from the income tax is likely to reach $40,000,000. The receipts from general customs and from whisky withdrawals are expected to materially increase from now on, which it is believed will bring the receipts for the twelve months up to about $380,500,000.

The disbursements for the year, it is thought, will not exceed $351,000,000, leaving a surplus—after deducting the $7,000,000 deficit for last January—of $22,500,000. The internal revenue officials, in figuring on the receipts from income taxation, estimate that the returns prior to July 1 will amount to $10,000,000, and for the remaining six months $33,000,000.

OFFICERS SHOWED BAD JUDGMENT.

Should Not Have Gone Hunting in China at This Critical Time.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The report from Shanghai that a hunting party from the United States ship Concord has been overpowered and carried off by the natives near Chin Kiang because they had accidentally shot a Chinaman, although not yet officially confirmed has given rise to grave concern at the navy and state departments. Chin Kiang lies on the Yang Tse river, 146 miles above Shanghai and just below the Grand canal. The country is famous for its game, and whenever a naval vessel is in the harbor the officers avail themselves of the opportunity to hunt.

It is felt at the state department, however, that the officers of the Concord showed very bad judgment in indulging in their desire for sport while the country is so disturbed and the natives are so jealous of the presence of foreigners. It is not believed, however, that the party is in great danger if the commander of the Concord shows prudence in dealing with the case.

Brief of Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Secretary Carlisle sent to the senate a statement that there would be a surplus at the end of this year of $25,500,000, after paying off last year's deficit. The credentials of Senator Nelson, from Minnesota, were presented. The house bill for a military park at Gettysburg was passed; also the bill to regulate navigation on the lakes. The District appropriation bill consumed the balance of the day.

The house adopted the conference reports on the fortifications and army appropriations. A special order was carried for debate on the currency bill today, tomorrow and Thursday. The omnibus war claims bill was defeated, and the agricultural appropriation passed. More Hawaiian correspondence was laid before the house. Hall of Missouri characterized a statement of Hatch as a falsehood and the sergeant-at-arms had to interfere to prevent a row.

Amount of Bonds To Be Issued.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The amount of bonds which the administration contemplates issuing and may give notice of at any time now is $100,000,000 of 4 per cents., to run thirty years. Arrangements, it is believed have been practically concluded assuring the government that these bonds will be paid for with foreign gold.

Nominations Favorably Acted On.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The senate judiciary committee has voted to report favorably the nominations of Holmes Conrad, of Virginia, for solicitor general, and I. M. Dickinson, of Tennessee, for assistant attorney general.

CLUNG TO THE FORLORN HOPE.

Tug Goes in Search of the Ghostly Hull of the Chicora and Fails.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—At 11:15 a. m. yesterday the Dunham tug T. T. Morford forced her way through the river ice and out into the almost interminable floes in the lake on a reconnoitering trip. The destination of this stanch tug was uncertain. She was to proceed as far as possible through the ice, following a route laid out by Captain Graham. Aboard her were at least three men who anticipated that the trip would reveal some information concerning the missing steamer Chicora. They were W. J. Hancock, clerk of the Chicora; M. B. Rice and "Doc" Ballenger. The latter is a relative of Druggist Pease, of St. Joseph, and all are acquainted with a majority of the occupants of the lost steamer.

Undismayed by the certain report from South Chicago that the dark mass out in the lake supposed to be the hulk of the Chicora had disappeared, and was thought to be but a dirty, sooty snowbank occasionally the resting place of fatigued gulls, this trio of determined men sat in the pilot-house of the Morford and told their plans for the search and then took the post of lookout as the tug smashed her way through the drift ice. A crowd on the dock watched the tug until she disappeared in the wilderness of floating ice and then it watched her smoke.

At 6 o'clock last night the tug Morford returned. The tug made its way through the ice all the way to Whiting, Ind., and neither on the trip to that place nor on the return was anything seen that in any way resembled the hull of the the vessel. It would have been impossible for the vessel to have been in open water Sunday night and been hidden from the view of the men on the tug yesterday. After the return of the tug the Graham & Morton people announced that they had given up all hope of ever seeing the Chicora or any of its crew again.

A ROMANCE IN SCARLET.

Two Brothers Separated in Childhood but Later Marry Sisters.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The wedding of the Rev. George Washington Scarlet, pastor of the Reformed Church, in New Hurley, and Miss Laura Tuice, the 19-year-old daughter of his housekeeper, adds another link to the chain of romance with which the dominie is connected. He and his brother, John Adams Scarlet, were found parentless at a tender age and taken to a orphan home in Newark, N. J. They were too young to tell their own story or give their names. Because of the red kilts which they were they were called "Scarlet," and the name George Washington was given to the elder, while John Adams was applied to the younger.

The boys were in a short time adopted by farmers living in the same Pennsylvania county, unknown to each other, and for two years the boys were unconsciously within a few miles of each other. They were sent to Rutger's college. There they made good records for themselves, and were encouraged to study for the ministry. Their professional studies ended, they married sisters and entered upon the active duties of their chosen calling. The first wife of the Rev. G. W. Scarlet died about six months ago from injuries sustained by a fall. The sentiment of the congregation against the dominie for marrying his housekeeper's daughter, especially so soon after the death of his wife, was so strong that he resigned his charge.

Nothing Startling from Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 5.—In spite of the many announcements that yesterday was set for a definite declaration in the Guatemalan embroglio, nothing has transpired up to this writing and a statement of policy is not looked for now until today. SUTRO WAS WROTH

San Francisco's Aged Mayor in a Jaw-Fight.

SWAPS THE LIE WITH A CITIZEN.

Much Difficulty in Preventing Two Elderly Disputants from Going in a la Corbett—Scene of Confusion and Anger at a Freeholders' Meeting—A Couple of Alabama Statesmen Get Their Backs Up in the State Senate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Hard names and bitter denunciations created an exciting scene at a meeting of freeholders. Mayor Adolphus Sutro addressed the board, claiming that the setting aside of certain streets as boulevards was a part of the Southern Pacific's plan to block the construction of Sutro's road to the Cliff House While he was speaking Irving M. Scott, head of the Union Iron works and chairman of the freeholders committee which had reserved the streets as boulevards, entered. Sutro denounced him, Scott responding that Sutro was really in league with the Southern Pacific himself, although ostensibly opposed to it.

"You are a hireling of the Southern Pacific," shouted Sutro, angrily.

"You Are a Liar," Shouted Scott.

Scott shouted: "You are a liar," to which the mayor replied at the top of his voice:

"You are a lying dog and a Southern Pacific hireling."

"And you are a miserable flunkey yourself," shouted Scott, shaking his fist under the nose of the mayor of San Francisco.

The men sprang at each other. All was wild confusion and the two elderly gentlemen were with difficulty kept apart. After a long struggle they were quieted and Sutro apologized.

LIE PASSED IN ALABAMA.

A Couple of State Senators Let Their Angry Passions Louse.

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 5.—An exciting scene occurred in the senate. A heated debate arose over a bill authorizing the expenditure of money for an interstate encampment. Goodwin, the leading Populist senator, who is contesting Representative Cobb's seat in congress, made some allusions to fraud in recent elections. Pettus, president of the senate, took up the gauntlet thrown down by Goodwin, denying the charge, and the debate grew heated.

The lie was given and the two senators started toward each other, but friends rushed between them just in time to prevent blows. The scene was very exciting for a few moments, every senator being on his feet. Notwithstanding the storm blew over without serious trouble, it has greatly widened the breach between the Populists and Democrats and trouble may follow.

Deputy Sheriff Ripley passed Smith on the street and recognized him at once. Smith was heavily armed. He acknowledged being the leader of the miners and says he is afraid of being lynched at Colorado Springs. Smith is a tough character.

NOT FOR JOSEPH B.

Grosscup Decidedly "Agin" the Trust Manager.

NOT THE MAN FOR THE PLACE,

Says the Jurist in Reply to the "Recommend" of the Directors—A "Short" Seller of Whisky Trust Stock Not Likely To Be Enthusiastic in Booming the Property—Ownership of the Concern "in the Air" and Continually Changing.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The decision of Judge Grosscup in the whisky trust receivership case shows a wide difference of opinion between the jurist and the directors of the concern who presented a sworn certificate of good reputation and business ability in favor of Joseph Greenhut. The judge, far from agreeing with the directors, thought Greenhut the last man in the world—nearly—who should have anything to do with the conservation of the property and this was largely because of a confession Greenhut had made of a little transaction in stocks—said stocks being whisky trust stocks—and speaking of stocks the judge outlined a "state of things" regarding the whisky trust.

Who Owns the Stock, Anyhow?

For evidence had been given that made it impossible to know who owned the whisky trust. The men in control did not, and so rapid were the changes that the judge said no one did from one day to another. He said: "The admissions of counsel upon the hearing disclose that but a small proportion of the 350,000 shares of stock is held for investment purposes. The counsell for the directors could recall less than 10,000 shares, and the counsel for the committee named but 64,000 shares of this character. There are probably some more, but the fact remains that the vastly larger proportion of the stock is in the hands of New York brokers for speculative purposes, and thus subject to such rapid mutations of ownership that the stockholders' list of today furnishes no guide and but little suggestion of what it may be tomorrow.

Appointment of Receiver Was Regular.

"This vast issue of certificates, instead of representing substantial ownership of the property of the company, is only the chess board upon which has been played the game of speculative finance." Then after saying that his sympathies were not with the gamblers but the investors he said that the talk of irregular receivers was incorrect. "It was not only the right but the duty of the clerk to keep the proceedings unrevealed until they had reached their destination in the office at Peoria. But this does not relieve the case of the considerations, to some of which I have already adverted, and of others of which I shall now speak

Managers Who Have No Interest.

"It is shown that not only were the complaining stockholders without any considerable interest in the property, and that only of a temporary character, but neither had the consenting president or directors any substantial interest. The practical effect of the proceeding, therefore, was to bring into the custody of the court and away from the control of its owners a vast property without invoking upon full inquiry the independent judgment of the court as to the necessity of such a step, and at the instance of those who had only a small fraction of interest therein."

GREENHUT'S CURIOUS POSITION.

One That Made His Own Personal Interests Antagonistic to His Trust.

The judge closed as follows: "I feel at liberty, therefore, to look upon the case now as if this were an original application for the appointment of receivers and the stockholders were in court urging their several preferences. The admissions in this case disclose that Mr. Greenhut, at the time of his appointment, was under an agreement upon the New York stock exchange to deliver, upon demand, 15,000 shares of the stock of the company, and he was not the possessor of any of them. In sued a situation he could have but one personal interest; every appreciation of the stock amounted to a large cut into his personal fortune.

"As a receiver his duty would be to conserve the property and enhance the value; as a private individual his interest was to depreciate its value. Under such circumstances his acceptance of the receivership was simply an imposition upon the court. Indeed, I will knowingly accept no man as a receiver for any corporation who is, or has been, a speculator in its stocks. Private interest and official duty do not well go hand in hand. The interest of the man is very apt to color if not overcome the duty of the official. The need of the day in corporate affairs is for managers who have an eye single to the interests of their trust. Such men will never be found as long as stockholders permit them to gamble upon their securities.

"Especially is it the need of the day that officials who only come in contact with these affairs by virtue of their office should keep clean of any personal intermeddling that might, even remotely, tend to affect their official conduct. The only safe rule is to touch not with the private finger that which is intended only for the official hand. For these reasons I shall remove Mr. Greenhut. I am determined so far as possible to have a searching inquiry into the affairs of this company, and in the interest of the conserving and rounding up of its assets, and for that purpose, shall name a man who has no interest with any official or faction in the company and who has, by his experience in a like situation, proved himself both trustworthy and efficient. He will be the representative of the court, upon whose judgment the court will largely rely.

"I shall associate with him one of the nominees of the petitioners because of their large interest in the assets, and also on account of their proposal to finance them out of their present difficulties if given an opportunity. I think also the unanimous wish of the directors should be recognized. They are the parties in power and would naturally continue in power until the 1st of next April, and they are especially intimate with the practical workings of the distillery business.

"I shall, therefore, associate with the principal receiver a man whose appointment will be agreeable to them and whose experience as a distiller will aid in the administration of the trust. An order may be entered removing Mr. Greenhut and appointing General John C. McNulta and John J. Mitchell to act, along with Mr. Lawrence, as receivers. General McNulta will be regarded as the principal receiver."

In an interview Mayer, one of the attorneys for the stockholders' committee, said the stockholders will immediately proceed to reorganization of the company. A thorough investigation of the books of the company will also be made. Judge Grosscup, after an informal conference with the new receivers, stated that the trust would be run on business principles and the affairs of the company be conducted as if nothing had happened. There falls due today $1,000,000 of the bonds issued last summer. They will be renewed. Rebate vouchers will be paid as they fall due, if the receivers can see their way clear.

FIGHT OF THE BROOKLYN STRIKERS.

Obtain an Order for the Forfeiture of the Companies' Franchises.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 5.—The board of aldermen has adopted an order demanded by the trolley line strikers to forfeit the franchises of the trolley line companies. A committee consisting of four members of district assembly No. 75, K. of L., called upon Mayor Schieren at his office to urge the mayer to sign the resolution which was passed by the board of aldermen. The committee was received by Secretary Palmer, and he went in and asked the mayor what he proposed to do. The mayor replied: "When this resolution comes before me on Wednesday next in the regular way I will have something to say about it. I decline to say in advance what I shall do."

Secretary Palmer informed the delegation of the mayor's answer and they then expressed a desire to see his honor personally. Secretary Palmer informed the mayor of the committee's wish and he came out and reiterated the message delivered by his secretary. The delegation then withdrew. Everything was quiet during the afternoon. The strikers have been exhorted by their leaders not to make any breach of the law and they carried this wish out to the letter.

President Norton, of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad company, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Morle, charged with the violation of a United States statute in displaying United States mail signs on trolley cars that were not carrying mail. Ex-Judge Morris, counsel for Mr. Norton, contended that the agreement of the company with the United States government provided that they must be ready to carry mail on all trains or cars and that while perhaps there might have been cars without mail actually on them, the cars when the sign was put on had been engaged in carrying mail.

Judge Moore in the court of sessions instructed the February grand jury that it would have a great deal of work before it in investigating the disorder during the past few weeks caused by the strike. The responsibility of the disorderly acts, he told the jury, must be placed. Law and order must prevail, and it is the duty of the grand jury to find out who was responsible.

Judge Gaynor, in supreme court chambers, handed down a decision on the application for a writ of mandamus against the Atlantic avenue company. The application was made by James O'Connell, a mineral water bottler, who claims to have suffered great financial loss because the company has not operated its cars as fully as they were operated prior to Jan. 14. Judge Gaynor allows the company twenty days in which to make answer before a judge and jury,

GOVERNMENT CASE IS CLOSED.

Attorneys for the A. R. U. Men at Chicago Ask a General Discharge.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Unexpectedly counsel for the government announced that it had submitted all its evidence in the Debs conspiracy case. Saturday the prosecution issued forty five more subpœnas for witnesses and these were expected to keep the government on the stand all the week, but the prosecution failed to secure these witnesses in time and closed the case.

Immediately the defense began asking for discharges, separately for McVean, Dryer, Larkin, McDonald and Burke and en bloc for the whole of the defendants. Arguments were made, and Judge Grosscup took the matter under advisement. He will make his decision today.

Fifty Die in a French Mine.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—Fifty men are believed to have lost their lives in an explosion that occurred in the St. Eugenie coal pit in the department of Saone et Loire. The work of rescuing the living and recovering the bodies of the dead is greatly impeded owing to the fact that the explosion caused the workings to collapse, filling the galleries with tons of rock and earth and great quantities of timber that had been used for supports.

PARADISE.

Oh, not afar in distant skies
The shining hills of heaven rise
In loving hearts lies paradise,
And loving words are keys that ope
The portals to that land of hope.

Oh, planning hearts that droop and sigh,
To watch the bitter days go by,
Heaven itself is close and nigh
Ever about us angels go,
Threading these toilsome ways below.
We do not see them—do not know.

But hearts that throb with loving thoughts,
And lips that whisper, heaven taught,
The loving words the Master brought—
These are the angels we would know,
And these the shining feet that go
Making a paradise below.

Oh, not afar in distant skies,
But close at hand, the blessing lies—
In loving hearts lies paradise.
Look up, sad soul! the world is fair,
And heaven and love are everywhere!

CIGARETTES AND THE TEETH.

A Dentist Says the Nerves In Them Are Killed by Nicotine Poisoning.

"There is one bad result of constant cigarette smoking that very few people know anything about," said a Brooklyn dentist. "The result itself has been apparent to me and to all dentists for a long time, but the cause has been a mystery until very recently. For years the nerves of teeth in every other way perfect have been found dead. A careful examination of a dead nerve found in an unexposed tooth recently revealed the fact that it had been poisoned by nicotine, and thereby the mystery referred to was solved. Nicotine poisoning from cigarette smoking is killing the nerves in the teeth of smokers. It is a most serious state of affairs, although most people will not understand. They think a dead tooth is as good as a live one. They will find their mistake some day.

"A young woman whom I have known for some time came here the other day and wanted a tooth attended to. I worked on the tooth some time, and some of the instruments I used should have made her scream a little bit. But she never made a sound, and I naturally concluded that the nerve of the tooth was dead. It surprised me because the tooth was a good one and the nerve unexposed. Well, I extracted the nerve, and the minute I saw it I knew what was the trouble.

"'Do you want a live nerve left in your head?' I asked.

"'Why, of course,' she replied.

"'Then stop smoking cigarettes,' I said.

"'Why, doctor, what do you mean?' she began. Then she put on a great show of indignation.

"'My dear young lady,' I said, 'what's the use of talking so? I'm a dental surgeon and know a thing when I see it. You have been smoking cigarettes for a long time, and my advice was given in a perfectly friendly spirit.' Well, she collapsed then, acknowledged the truth of what I had said, and that ended it. I don't think that cigarette smokers figure this result of nicotine poisoning in with the many other injurious effects of the weed, but to my mind it is the most dangerous of all."—New York Sun.

A Pickpocket Who Was Foolish Enough to Steal a Lady's Pocketbook.

"I just swiped a leather, Jinn," said a pickpocket to another of his profession as he came across him sitting on a bench in Union square.

"Wus it one o' them purty ones what the women carries round de street in der hands?"

"Yes, I swiped it up on Fift' avener when she wus lookin inter er windy."

"If yer'd been in de bizniz as long as I hev, yer wouldn't er took it."

"Why?"

"'Tain't wuth it."

"A feller might strike er big haul, though, that way some time."

"Not on yer life he wouldn't. I've swiped a load on 'em, an I never got one yit that I could git a beer out on. Dey don't carry money in dem leathers. Dey's only er bluff. Try dat one yer've got and see if it's enny good."

Glancing about him warily to make sure that no one was watching him, the pickpocket opened the purse. He found three samples of silkoline, a patent glove buttoner, a card advertising a lotion for removing blackheads from the face, a sheet of flesh colored court plaster, some samples of scrim and Madras, a list of prices of carpets, a circular showing an illustration of a patent hose supporter, a card of small safety pins, two slabs of chewing gum warranted to cure dyspepsia and a card bearing her address and instructions to take her there if she met with an accident.

"That's all dere is in it," said the man who had "swiped" the pocketbook as he turned it upside down and shook it, with a look of disgust on his face.

"Didn't I tell yer," remarked the other. "I've 'swiped' dem t'ings till I'm tired. Dey're all de same. De women don't carry nothin but trash in 'em. De money ain't dere, never!"—New York Herad.

Do Not Sleep on the Left Side.

There is little doubt that an immense number of persons habitually sleep on the left side, and those who do so can never, it is said, be strictly healthy. It is the most prolific cause of nightmare, and also of the unpleasant taste in the mouth on arising in the morning. All food enters and leaves the stomach on the right side, and hence sleeping on the left side soon after eating involves a sort of pumping operation which is anything but conducive to sound repose. The action of the heart is also seriously interfered with and the lungs unduly compressed. Hence it is best to cultivate the habit of always sleeping on the right side, although Sandow and other strong men are said to invariably sleep on their backs.—Philadelphia Times.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

WIDE TIRES IN DEMAND

They are Essential in Making Good Roads

Dixon, as well as other cities in the northern part of this state, has expended a good deal of money in making good roads in and around this city; in fact a large portion of our city and township taxes have been expended in putting our roads in good condition, and it would seem a matter of wise economy to take such measures as would result in making more permanent rather than conserving the destruction of the work thus accomplished.

Many Illinois cities are passing ordinance compelling owners of drays and and other heavy vehicles to use wide tires on the wheels of their vehicles. Brick is being extensively used for paving purposes and it is claimed that the narrow tired vehicles ruin the brick in no time. This is also true of macadam. There is a general demand for wide tires and it is realized that we cannot have decent country roads until the farmers adopt wide tires, and it is said that a bill governing this matter will be introduced in the legislature at this session.

A move of this kind here would be right in line with what is being done in other cities in the state.

A wide tire ordinance is now before the council of Peoria. It provides that the loads from one and a half to two tons including the wagon, shall have two and one-half-inch tires; two and a half to four tons, three inch tires; four to six tons, four inch tires. No load including wagon, to be more than six tons. The penalty for violations is from $5 to $100. The time for the ordinance to go into effect is January 1st, 1896.

At Springfield and Decatur there are ordinances requiring tires on all heavy vehicles, such as coal wagons, drays, etc., to be three inches wide. Cities all over the country have the matter in contemplation, and it is a popular measure. The only difference being as to whether three or four inch tire are the better. The object is, of course, to protect the roads, which narrow tires wear out very much faster than do wide ones.

The ordinary farm wagon usually has a tire one and and one-half inche wide, still many wagons with three inch tires are being sold now. These wide tired vehicles are used not alone for farm work, but for trucks, and whenever extra heavy hauling is to be done. These tires do not cut the sod or meadows of pastures as the narrow ones do. The cost is about $4 more on a wagon fitted with four-inch tires than those finished with tires only an inch and a half in width. Even if an extra set of new wheels was to be purchased the extra cost would be but from $20 to $25.

Dixon, Ill., Feb. 4, 1895.

EDITOR TELEGRAPH:—

Dear Sir: In your issue of February 2nd under head line "Near Death's Door" you state that all that prevented a terrible collision on the Illinois Central between here and Woosung last night was the fact that the two trains, the south bound passenger, and a heavy freight going north met on the straight strip of track beyond Hazelwood bridge, and the Engineers saw each other's head lights in time to slow up, etc. As a news item, this may have been interesting reading to your subscribers, and if the statements had been in accordance with the actual facts, I would have no occasion to address you regarding the same. The facts were as follows: The north bound freight had a time order giving it until 6:45 p. m. to go to Woosung, the passenger being a few minutes late. The freight was a heavy train and the night cold and the train stalled on the heavy grade north of Dixon. The conductor seeing he could not reach Woosung on the time allowed him, took every precaution to avoid an accident. He sent a flagman north to stop the passenger train. Not knowing but a following train had orders to run to Woosung he could not back up until a train arrived, and sent a flagman south to protect his train from that direction. On arrival of passenger from north it gave him the right to back in to Dixon on the passengers time. Thus you will see that there was not a possibility for a collision, and passengers on the train were in no more danger than those in our waiting room at Dixon awaiting its arrival. These facts could have been ascertained upon inquiry at this office. If you will kindly publish this explanation it may in part correct the wrong impression made by the article mentioned. Yours trutly,

L. BACKUS, Agent.

—Miss Emma O'Brien sang recently at a church in Rockford and a paper of that city in speaking of the affair said that Miss O'Brien was from Rochelle. Dixon takes pride in being the home of that young lady and we do not want our neighbors to forget it.

—It is a matter for congratulation that while there has been considerable illness in the community this winter, there has been so little of it at the college. We are assured that at the present time there is not a single case of sickness in any of the buildings connected with the institution.

—John Alwood died at 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon at his home about six miles east of this city, on the Chicago road, and will be buried in the DeWolf cemetery tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Alwood was a native of England, was sixty-five years of age and had been a resident of this county for about twenty-five years. He leaves a wife, four sons and two daughters.

—Mr. Foster E. Stambrough and Mrs. Ella Lewis, both of Dixon, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at Clinton, Iowa. The groom is one of our popular young men, and the bride, formerly of Amboy, is rapidly forming a host of friends here. After an extended tour through Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Stambrough will be at home to their friends at 124 East Fourth street.

LOVE AND PROPOSALS.

How Men and Women Act In This Interesting Juncture.

There is a clever statistician who could teach a thing or two to the novelist. This statistician has attempted to classify the action and methods of proposals, and as a result has presented tabulated figures extremely interesting to psychologists. Out of 100 cases 36 gentlemen take lady in arms, 67 gentlemen kiss lady on lips, four gentlemen kiss lady on cheek, three gentlemen show very good taste by kissing lady on eyes, and two gentlemen kiss lady on hand. It is to be presumed these two out of 100 are the timid, diffident kind, though it is possible that they might be of the quietly sentimental nature. One gentleman kisses lady on nose. It must be added that the statistician is careful to insert the saving clause of "by mistake."

There is even a record of a man kissing a lady on edge of shawl, but, thank goodness, there is only one in 100, and the chances are that this man is peculiar.

Seventy-two hold lady's hand, 17 hold it very tightly, 14 have lumps in their throats, and nine exclaim aloud, "Thank God!" Only seven out of 100 declare themselves to be deliriously happy, and five are too full for utterance. Three out of 100 stand on one foot when they make proposal, and two go down on one knee, while nine make a formal prelude—something like the slow music at the play, we suppose, when the villain appeals to heaven to witness the consuming flame of his affection for the heart he plots to ruin, etc.

The behavior of the lady under the circumstances is equally entertaining and instructive. Out of 100 cases 81 sink into the arms of gentlemen, 68 rest their heads on gentleman's breast, and only one sinks into the arms of a chair. Eleven clasp their arms around the gentleman's neck, six weep tears of joy silently, and 44 weep tears aloud—whatever that means. Seventy-two have eyes full of love, and nine out of 100 rush from the room to tell somebody. Only four are greatly surprised, and 87 of 100 knew that something was coming. Five giggle hysterically, and one even sneezes. Only one of 100 struggles not to be kissed, while six kiss gentleman first. If we believe the statistician, one out of 100 women will say, "Yes, but don't be a fool."—Philadelphia Times.

ABLE TO TRANSFER LUNACY.

Uncanny Result of an Experiment In Hypnotism Made by a Paris Doctor.

A series of very wonderful experiments which have just been concluded by Dr. Luys of Paris, whose observations and discoveries in connection with magnetism and electricity in relation to hypnotism made a profound impression upon the scientific world some time ago, has led to a remarkable result. The latest discovery establishes the fact that cerebral activity can be transferred to a crown of magnetized iron, in which the activity can be retained and subsequently passed on to a second person. Incredible as this may seem, Dr. Luys has proved its possibility by the experiments just referred to.

He placed the crown, which in reality is only a circular band of magnetized iron, on the head of a female patient suffering from melancholia, with a mania for self destruction, and with such success was the experiment attended that within a fortnight the patient could be allowed to go free without danger, the crown having absorbed all her marked tendencies.

About two weeks afterward he put the same crown, which meanwhile had been carefully kept free from contact with anything else, on the head of a male patient suffering from hysteria, complicated by frequent recurrent periods of lethargy. The patient was then hypnotized and immediately conducted himself after the manner of the woman who had previously worn the crown. Indeed he practically assumed her personality and uttered exactly the same complaints as she had done. Similar phenomena have, it is reported, been observed in the case of every patient experimented upon. Another experiment showed that the crown retained the impression acquired until it was made red-hot.—London Telegraph.

Seedless Fruits and Vegetables.

Writers often express wonder that any fruit or vegetable should be found without seeds, the acme of surprise seeming to be with respect to the seedless orange. The fact of the case is that such examples are met with in almost every variety of fruits and in several kinds of vegetables. An instance which can be cited in the apple is Mennecher's Nocore, so named because of both "core" and seed pits being entirely absent.

The Rutter pear is a so called seedless variety of that species of fruit, but I believe that abortive seeds are occasionally found in isolated specimens. The "zante," or seedless currant of the grocery stores, is not a currant at all, but a small species of seedless grape.—St. Louis Republic.

A Clever Dog.

Mr. Stacy Marks' anecdote of the money finding dog, which he attributes to Landseer, is a very prince among all stories of the kind. The dog's master, in the presence of a skeptical friend, hid a £5 note in the hole of a tree when the dog was paying him no attention. "Go, fetch!" he said, some time afterward, while returning by another road, without further explanation.

The dog trotted off, and it was a few hours before he joined the two at home. As there were no signs of a note, the skeptical friend grew satirical. But the host opened the dog's mouth, and 5 sovereigns were concealed under his tongue. He had found the note, been to the banker's and exchanged it for gold.—Spectator.

Manager Prior, of the Schiller, is certainly fortunate in exactly suiting the public demand for agreeable change. High class comedy-drama is the attraction at the Schiller next week, the bill being Edwin Milton Royle's delightful play "Friends." Royle, who early in his career was acknowledged a brilliant dramatist, wrote this intensely interesting comedy, which has brought him to the front rank among the dramatic stars of the stage today. In its leading character, that of John Paden, jr., a modern poet, he has won distinction as an actor, and as a strikingly effective and finished dramatic artist, there is no greater favorite with the public than Edwin Milton Royle. Indeed "Friends" may justly be said to have realized a phenomenal success from the very first.
